Monthly Tuition FAQ

how is tuition billed?

Tuition is billed to a student's account on the first of every month. Billing starts the first month a student begins their program.

how is tuition collected?

Tuition is collected by automatic monthly payment on the 20th of each month. This continues until a student's balance is paid in full.

what methods of payment are accepted?

ACH bank payment, which involves automatic payment from a checking or savings account, is preferred and encouraged. Other forms of automatic payment can be accepted. Please call 800.440.6227 or 605.336.6588 for more information.

The form authorize automatic monthly payment is available at sfseminary.edu/directpayment.

is monthly payment required?

No. While monthly plans are encouraged, students may choose to pay annually—one year of tuition in advance of their start date.

when do payments stop?

Automatic payments to the seminary stop when a student's balance reaches zero. Billing to a student's account stops once academic requirements are complete or when notice of a leave of absence or withdrawal is submitted. For specifics on these processes, review the academic catalog or contact the enrollment management.

does this impact outside grants or scholarships?

Students with outside scholarships or grants continue on the monthly payment plan. They may request to receive a check from Sioux Falls Seminary for extra funds in their student account.

are there additional fees?

Monthly tuition at Sioux Falls Seminary includes access to nearly all of the seminary's resources. Additional costs may be incurred with graduation and/or from elective learning experiences taken through partners or outside parties.

what is the ministry support network?

The Ministry Support Network at Sioux Falls Seminary is a community of people who further the development of individuals participating in the kingdom mission by regularly sharing their time, treasure, and talents. The majority of those participating do so through financial support of Sioux Falls Seminary, often monthly. To learn more, reference the Kairos Project guide at sfseminary.edu/kairosinfo.
